UNION HOLDING UP CONTRACT
WITH FORD CO.RIFT BETWEEN TOP
MEN OF UAW-CIO
IS WIDENED

Detroit, March 11 (P)—Renegotiation of certain phases of the contract recently completed between the CIO United Auto Workers and the Ford Motor Co. was ordered today by the union's national board council.

By a vote of 507 to 296, the council directed that a clause in the contract dealing with productivity be sent back for reconsideration. The clause provided for the naming of an arbitrator to set up production schedules. The council held that the standards should be determined by direct union company negotiation without the aid of an arbitrator.

Pay Raise Satisfaction

There was no objection to the 18 cents an hour wage increase provided by the agreement.

The council's action means that ratification of the contract by the various Ford locals will be held up until the objected-to clauses have been changed to the council's satisfaction.

Charges that political maneuvering for high office in the CIO United Auto Workers' union was delaying settlement of the prolonged General Motors strike brought an assertion today from the union's top officers that they are uninvolved in the strike settlement negotiations.

There was no flat denial that personal differences have widened, especially between President R. J. Thomas and Walter P. Reuther, vice-president. Thomas will seek re-election at the UAW convention in Atlantic City March 22-24 and 17 UAW-CIO local union have announced they will support Reuther for the presidency.

Thomas Raps Reuther

The charges that the strike of 175,000 GM production workers was being prolonged by union "politics" first were made last week by Harry W. Anderson, General Motors vice-president. The charge was denied by the union and made the basis for supplemental charges against the corporation, filed with the National Labor Relations Board.

Thomas and Reuther, with George F. Addes, secretary-treasurer of the UAW, in a statement today asserted they were "unanimous in all actions now being taken to negotiate a settlement of the strike" and added:

"We agree emphatically that the General Motors Corp. is solely responsible for continuing the strike through its refusal to accept the recommendations of the president of the United States and its refusal to arbitrate the issue."

The statement followed close on the heels of a report that Thomas had assailed Reuther in a talk Sunday at a meeting of the union's national Ford council, considering the new wage and contract agreement with the Ford Motor Co.

Thomas told newsmen he had not mentioned Reuther by name but had asked "why isn't the GM strike being settled?" Until Thomas sat in on the negotiations with General Motors three weeks

Price Control Not
Impeding Consumer
Goods, Says Bowles

BY MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
Washington, March 11 (P)—Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles promised today that the flow of consumer goods the public is waiting for will not be choked off by price disputes.

He pledged this at a news conference as a House and Senate conference committee voted to restore OPA and Civilian Production Administration funds which Bowles had termed essential for success of the stabilization program. The Senate previously had cut appropriations for these agencies in half.

"I am very determined," Bowles told reporters, "to get prices out of the way of production."

But at the same time he termed "fallacious" various statements that price control is impeding the output of goods. He said that "every squawk we receive on this matter" will be investigated, and that relief will be forthcoming whenever it is warranted.

Surprise For Public

Bowles reiterated that he expects no general increase in prices as a result of the new wage-price policy.

Bowles said he thought on the whole the public is "going to be surprised at the limited number of price increases" required under the new policy.

Price hikes recently authorized for some types of clothing actually may save the effect, Bowles said, of having money for the average family. This will happen, he added, if the price increases stimulate production of low and moderately priced clothing, as intended. Very little of this is available now.

The stabilization chief expressed confidence that the present wage-price policy can "definitely stand" for the duration of the stabilization program.

"It will stand," he said, "if everyone uses a little restraint and doesn't get out a slide rule to see who may have gotten an advantage."

CHURCHILL SEEN
AS WAR MAKERFormer Prime Minister
Denounced By Party
Paper In Moscow

BY EDDY GILMORE
Moscow, March 11 (P)—Pravda in a front page editorial today denounced former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill as an open advocate of power politics whose words urged war against the Soviet Union and meant "nothing else than the liquidation of the United Nations Organization."

The Communist party newspaper, breaking silence on Churchill's Missouri speech of March 5, accused him of attempting to liquidate the Big Three coalition, trying to impose British-American rule upon the world and slandering the Soviet Union. Churchill's speech, however, was unsuccessful, the editorial said, adding:

"No false speeches about democracy and freedom by convinced reactionaries such as Churchill and his American friends from the Vandenberg camp will succeed in drawing people onto the road to new wars prepared for them."

Pravda gave a clear indication to its millions of readers, and deputies here from all parts of the Soviet Union for the opening of the supreme Soviet, that it believed the people of the United States and Britain would reject Churchill's views.

Two Boys Trapped
In Beds By Blaze

Detroit, March 11 (P)—The bodies of two small boys were taken from the burned ruins of their two-story frame home early today.

They were Wilfred J. Mallais, Jr., 13, and Benjamin Franklin Osborn, 3.

The pair were trapped in their beds after a roomer at their home, John Lander, 52, tried unsuccessfully to save them.

Warren township Police Chief Alfred Maletta said the blaze started in the kitchen while the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred J. Mallais, Sr., were absent. The victims were their children by previous marriages.

MINERS FRAME
WAGE DEMANDSNew Proposals Will Be Served On Soft Coal
Operators Today

BY HAROLD W. WARD
Washington, March 11 (P)—John L. Lewis and his policy committee spent today boiling down the wage and working condition wants expressed at 30-odd district union conventions, into a set of demands to be served on soft coal operators tomorrow.

There also were broad hints that the administration's new wage-price policy had come in for considerable discussion at the all-day session of the United Mine Workers top representatives. Lewis, in opposition to peacetime government controls, has called repeatedly for a return to full-scale collective bargaining on pay, and competitive determination of prices.

Preparing a synthesis of the resolutions from the various district conventions was in itself a formidable job. Each had its own set of demands to be correlated with whatever program the union high command itself has worked out. They varied in detail, but through them all ran a thread of three demands: Shorter hours at higher pay per hour, a royalty on all coal mined for a union welfare fund, and unionization of supervisors.

The committee quit for the night with the announcement that it would have to get together again tomorrow to complete the preparation of formal demands, which a union spokesman said they would be ready for the start of negotiations with the operators at 11 a. m. tomorrow.

Heiress To $10,000
Estate Is Hunted

Detroit, March 11 (P)—Probate Judge James H. Sexton today directed attorneys to search for 16-year-old Dorothy Louise Phillips, address unknown, who is heiress to a $10,000 estate.

Terms of the will of her father, Peter Phillips, 55, who died February 27 in Highland Park, Mich., direct that the money go to his daughter if she is located by July 1. Otherwise, it will go to other beneficiaries.

The will stated that Phillips' wife left him in Youngstown, O., 15 years ago, taking their baby daughter with her.

Emporia, Kas., March 11 (P)—The toll in the latest Lyon county "wolf drive" was five coyotes and four hunters.

One of the victims had his right leg fractured by a shotgun blast, another suffered a chest wound and punctured lung, a third was shot in the knee and the fourth got a blast in his left leg.

AUSTRIA CUT DOWN

Vienna, March 11 (P)—The Allied control council today announced normal food rations in Austria would be reduced from 1,550 to 1,200 calories daily March 18. The move was made on the advice of UNRRA that the world food shortage made a reduction necessary.

SOVIETS QUIT
MUKDEN, GIVE UP FACTORIESCHINESE REDS ARE SWARMING INTO MANCHURIA

BY SPENCER MOOSA
Chungking, Tuesday, March 12 (P)—Russians withdrawing from Mukden formally turned over Soviet barracks and six factories to Chinese government authorities, the Central News Agency reported today.

The Soviets, whose abrupt departure reportedly had left the Manchurian industrial center a battleground of Chinese Communist and government troops, also formally asked the Chinese mayor to take care of Soviet commercial firms there, the news agency added.

The dispatch asserted that 7,000 puppet Manchurian troops had been "liberated," but did not say whether by Russians or by Chinese.

Both the Chinese Communists and government military leaders were reported speeding reinforcements to Mukden today, although there were no fresh reports of fighting there.

The Central News report said Chinese Communists from Shan-tung province were swarming into Manchuria—an allegation made significant by the fact that they could get there only by crossing the Gulf of Chihli to Russian-held Dairen.

Industries Stripped

Whether the Russians intended to quit Harbin as they did Mukden over the weekend was not known, but the Central News Agency said they had conducted a house-to-house search for hidden weapons during a 24-hour imposition of martial law Saturday and Sunday.

The Russians had been scheduled to hand Manchurian control to the Chinese government Feb. 1, but have delayed their departure amid widespread accounts that they were stripping the country of industrial equipment.

There also were rumors in Chungking that Lt. Gen. Alvan C. Gillem, Jr., substituting for General Marshall, might visit Mukden with Communist and government leaders, but local Communist quarters said no definite plans had been made.

The Communists have declared they have 300,000 troops in Manchuria. Chinese newspapers said many of these were hurrying southward to Mukden, where they already outnumber the scanty government forces which the Russians allowed to enter some time ago.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and his advisers held a private discussion today on Manchuria, which also figured largely in talks General Marshall held with various Chinese before his departure for Washington.

Marshall Confers
With MacArthur,
Enroute To U. S. A.

Tokyo, Tuesday, March 12 (P)—General Marshall arrived from China today for a conference with General MacArthur before continuing to the United States, where he will report to President Truman on China and other matters.

Marshall landed at Atsugi airfield near Yokohama at 8:42 (Japan Time) a. m. He was met by Major General L. J. Whitlock, assistant chief of staff. The five-star general departed immediately by car for Tokyo.

It was understood Marshall would continue his journey soon—possibly today.

This will be the first meeting of Marshall and MacArthur since the end of the war.

BRITISH BATTLE WITH INDONESEArmored Units Sent In After Two Convoys
Are Ambushed

BY MARC PURDUE
Batavia, Java, March 11 (P)—British planes and armored vehicles were sent against Indonesian forces today for the first time in several months after a strong force of nationalists attacked two British convoys between Buitenzorg and Bandung, killing seven Indian soldiers and wounding 25.

The new flare-up of fighting came in the midst of a tense political situation which brought a protest from Premier Sutan Sjahrir of the unrecognized Indonesian republic against the landing of Dutch troops in Java Saturday to relieve British Indian units.

Reports from Sumatra said Indonesians there had carried out a "social revolution," abolishing all sultans on the east coast and arresting all sultans except the sultan at Deli, whose palace was being guarded by Allied troops.

(In Singapore headquarters of the southeast Asia command announced that a British major was killed, a captain and two Indian soldiers were wounded and five Indian soldiers were missing after an ambush by Indonesians near Medan, Sumatra, Saturday.)

Hosiery Shortage

Washington, March 11 (P)—The Civilian Production Administration is studying ways to relieve the shortage of women's hosiery, but the agency is out to keep the frills from the ladies' dresses and coats.

A CPA official said today the agency may restore allocation controls on rayon yarn so hosiery manufacturers can get more of the available supply.

He added that hosiery companies have suggested that 1,500,000 pounds of rayon yarn be earmarked for them each month.

The troubles of hosiery manufacturers began when rayon allocation controls were dropped shortly after the war ended. Many of these firms had not been pre-war customers and the suppliers began to channel most of their yarn to other kinds of clothing.

This was done, the CPA official explained, in the expectation that demand for nylon stockings would trim requests for rayon hosiery. The current shortage developed when nylon producers were unable to meet demand.

As for the frills on women's dresses and coats, CPA said most of them still are banned under the wartime conservation order which remains in effect.

Socialist Cabinet
Formed In Belgium

Brussels, March 11 (P)—Paul-Henri Spaak succeeded today in forming a Socialist cabinet which he said was chosen for its ability to help "lead a reconstruction program that will meet with the approval of every political faction in Belgium."

Spaak, who is also president of the United Nations assembly, said he would retain the foreign affairs portfolio and would name Van Acker minister of economic affairs.

Man Who Started
Grand Jury Inquiry
Paroled At Jackson

Detroit, March 11 (P)—Dr. Martin B. Robinson, whose report of a purported holdup touched off a widespread grand jury investigation at the turn of the decade, was paroled today from Southern Michigan prison.

A key figure in the grand jury disclosures of 1940 and later years, Dr. Robinson was serving a three-to-five-year sentence for conspiracy to obstruct justice. He claimed a lapse of memory when asked to identify the four men accused of robbing his Great Lakes Development Co. in a downtown office building July 8, 1939.

Sentence was imposed in December, 1943, and Dr. Robinson's final appeal was turned down by the U. S. Supreme Court in Jan. 1944.

Parole officials said that with good behavior time he would be taken off parole Jan. 11, 1948.

Most of the 18 families who were living in the cottages this winter were able to return after portions of the structures had been boarded up.

Offers of assistance to those whose homes were damaged came from midwestern headquarters of the American Red Cross at St. Louis, but local agencies were believed adequate to handle the families' immediate problems.

Owners looked hopefully for priorities to assist them in rebuilding their damaged dwelling, but local contractors said there was little possibility that materials would be available before late summer.

The latest count showed that nearly 50 dwellings were virtually destroyed and many others partially damaged at Kilmer and Ricomo Beaches, five miles north of Bay City, by towering piles of ice that were driven across the beach like glaciers by the waves.

Included among the cottages destroyed was one filled with antique furniture and glassware owned by a widow whose husband had been a dealer. The contents were reported valued at several thousand dollars.

Colder weather caused flood waters to subside generally in the state, ending the menace to highways and traffic. The highway department at Lansing reported that all trunk lines in recent flood areas have been reopened with the exception of M-13 at the Cass river south of Saginaw.

ROSTER OF U. S.
NAZIS REVEALEDWisconsin And Michigan
People Are Listed In German Documents

Washington, March 11 (P)—A Senate Military Affairs subcommittee made public today a list of 643 names of persons listed by the Nazis as fellow party members living in the United States on Dec. 31, 1942.

Another such list contained the names of 1,489 persons with addresses in Argentina.

The subcommittee, headed by Senator Harley M. Kilgore (D-W. Va.) has been investigating war mobilization.

The list was compiled by the war department from official German documents and files. Maj. Gen. John H. Hildring, director of the civil affairs division of the war department, told the subcommittee that it represents only a fraction of the total membership of the Nazi party outside Germany.

He emphasized in his testimony that the original records were made by Germans and not by the Army. For this reason, he declared, "the war department cannot vouch for their accuracy," he added that files yet to be examined may show more names for any country.

The membership list included the following:

Erna Bulla, seamstress, Milwaukee; Wilhelm Dralle, teacher, Detroit; Hildegard Elbert, 969 Westchester Blvd., Grosse Pointe, Mich.; Otto Jehle, butcher, Milwaukee; Dr. Therese Kaltenbacher, tutor, Madison, Wis.; Johanna Killian, seamstress, Dearborn, Mich.

Hermann Kuschner, clerk, 225 Hazelhurst, Detroit; Erich Koch, watchmaker, Milwaukee; Walter Rudolf Rober, business employee, 12687 Promenade, Detroit; Willy Westhoff, clerk, 9140 Bryden, Detroit.

NATION TO CUT
DOWN ON BREADFamine Committee Gives
39 Ways To Save On
Wheat And Fats

Washington, March 11 (P)—President Truman's famine emergency committee asked Americans tonight to eat 40 per cent less wheat and 20 per cent less fats to send more to the hungry abroad and suggested 39 ways to do it.

The suggestions called for open face pies, buckwheat cakes instead of wheat cakes, open sandwiches, broiled instead of fried fish, substitution of fruit and other deserts for pastries.

Bakers were asked to cut the weight of single loaves of bread and other products by at least 10 per cent.

Restaurants were asked to serve a single roll or slice of bread, instead of putting baskets of rolls on the table. They also were urged to use no more than two pounds of flour per customer a week—which would make about two pounds of bread and one-half pound of other wheat products.

Food distributors were urged to promote the use of alternate and more plentiful foods such as—currently—potatoes, fish, eggs, poultry, citrus fruits and seasonal vegetables.

Earlier in the day the committee urged the agriculture department to take steps to curtail feeding of grains to livestock in order to make more cereals available for human food both in this country and abroad.

The conservation pattern was made public as Herbert Hoover, honorary chairman of the committee, made plans to leave for Europe, probably Sunday, to make a survey of food needs in war-torn areas for the American government. He will cover much of the same territory he helped to feed after World War I as head of an Allied relief commission.

Meanwhile, the agriculture department reported that prospects for this country's important winter wheat crop continue favorable.

Pickets At Chicago
Rabble-Rouser Talk
Dismissed By Judge

Chicago, March 11 (P)—Municipal Judge George L. Quilici today dismissed disorderly conduct charges against 11 men arrested during a demonstration outside a Gerald L. K. Smith rally Feb. 7, and declared that "peaceful picketing" of Smith and his associates "is a democratic form of free speech."

Judge Quilici also asserted that Chicago police were "more antagonistic toward crippled war veterans, young students and citizens" than they were toward Smith and his associates, whom the judge called "rabble-rousers and un-American."

The 11 were among 15 arrested. Three others, charged with possession of stench bombs, will be tried April 25 and another was granted a change of venue.

Automotive Strikes
Hit Great Britain

London, March 11 (P)—Strikes in the British automotive industry made 16,000 workers idle tonight as plans went forward to call out 40,000 to 50,000 Coventry District Engineering Workers March 13 in sympathy.

Following breakdown of negotiations with representatives of 11,000 striking workers, the Ford Motor Company said it would close its Dagenham plant March 16 until further notice.

HOUSING GETS
IN NEW EDICTBUSINESS PROJECTS IN BLUEPRINTS TO BE HELD UP

Washington, March 11 (P)—A "drastic" order curbing commercial construction in favor of houses took shape today along with a senate move to restore the subsidy and other features of the housing bill which the administration seeks.

Housing Administrator Wilson Wyatt said the order will be issued "in a matter of days." Other officials reported it will hold up thousands of non-essential factories and business buildings now on blueprints and will require persons seeking to erect amusement facilities to show they are needed.

The officials who gave these details with the understanding that their names not be used described the forthcoming order as "drastic and far-reaching."

Lumber Shortage Studied

Wyatt promised a "practical" application of the regulation at a luncheon of construction and management men and labor.

Senate Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky, after a White House conference, announced that the administration will seek to restore the subsidy plan and other house bill features which the house rejected, when the measure comes up in the senate.

Meanwhile Harold Webber, chief of the OPA office of export-import, said that lumber export prices are being studied "with a view to reducing to a minimum any possible incentive" for mills to export lumber. He testified before a senate agriculture subcommittee investigating a lumber shortage.

Lumber industry representatives told the senate committee that OPA price ceiling are strangling production.

Spokesmen for all segments of the industry agreed on that, but differed on the question of whether exports of lumber should be curtailed.

Spanish Situation
Splits UNO Council

Washington, March 11 (P)—The State Department disclosed today that it had rejected a French proposal to join in a complaint against the Franco regime in Spain before the United Nations security council.

The suggestion was turned down on the ground that this government does not now consider the Spanish situation a threat to world peace.

Leaving itself a way out if needed in the future, the United States said that it is "prepared to give careful study" to any additional facts provided by France.

The American note, released by the State Department today, completes a split in the security council big five powers over the Spanish situation. The United States and Britain do not favor taking charges against Franco to the security council, while Russia supports the French view. It remains to be seen what position China will take.

Industrial Sugar
Rations Increased

Washington, March 11 (P)—Industrial sugar rations will be increased ten per cent for the April-June allotment period, OPA announced today.

In general, commercial packers of vegetables and of canned and frozen fruits will get the same increase, the agency said.

It said there will be no change this month or next in the allotment of institutional users.

Moscow's Charge Of U. S. Meddling In Bulgaria Is Denied

Washington, March 11 (AP)—The United States tonight flatly denied Russia's charge that it violated an agreement in trying to broaden the Leftist regime in Bulgaria.

Replying personally to a Russian note of last week, Secretary of State Byrnes expressed "surprise" at the Russian objections. The dispute stems out of a big three foreign ministers agreement at Moscow last December that the United States and Britain would recognize Bulgaria if the government were broadened to include two members who would "really represent" the opposition.

On February 22 the United States followed up with a memo to Bulgaria attempting to clear up what it said appeared to be a misunderstanding in Sofia regarding the Moscow agreement. This country took the stand that the two opposition political leaders to be added to the government of Premier Kimon Georgiev should be given real authority, and not be ministers in name only.

Last week, Russia objected that this note violated the Moscow agreement by suggesting that the Bulgarian government and opposition find a "mutually acceptable" basis for the oppositionists' entry into the government.

Byrnes took the position today that mutual acceptability of the conditions of opposition participation was the "very essence of the agreement."

Irish Folk Mourn
Most Famous Son,
Cardinal Glennon

BY TOM WILLIAMS
Kinnead, Eire, March 11 (AP)—Thousands of Irish folk lined the roads of County Westmeath late today as a procession bearing the body of John Cardinal Glennon sped from Dublin to Mullingar for a second solemn high requiem mass Wednesday.

The long line of cars did not pause in Kinnead, native village of the cardinal bishop of St. Louis. It passed his home church, St. Mary's, whose bells tolled a dirge for the death of her most famous son.

After the mass at Mullingar, in his native diocese, Cardinal Glennon's body will be placed aboard a special plane, and will be flown to his home diocese of St. Louis. There the body will be placed in a special crypt in the St. Louis Cathedral.

Earlier in the day a solemn requiem high mass was sung in the chapel of All Hallows College in Dublin.

Housing Shortage

AIRPLANE MODELS—Building of model planes has developed into a fascinating hobby for large numbers of local residents. Research Programs In Endowed Schools Will Need Support

Laramie, Wyo.—Major research programs must in future come to depend increasingly on government and industry for support, Prof. Hugh S. Taylor of Princeton University declared in an address here this evening before the University of Wyoming chapter of Sigma Xi, scientific research society of America. Privately endowed universities and other institutions, he explained, will no longer be able to carry the main burden of research because "the necessary techniques of modern science, involving the production and control of high energy sources have become almost prohibitively expensive to endowed institutions."

Research looking to more or less immediate application to industrial problems can turn with confidence to industry for its support, Prof. Taylor told his audience. The first World War caused a general awakening to the wealth-giving possibilities of applied science, the interim between wars saw a great development of industrial laboratories and industrial fellowships in universities, and the second World War, just finished, added unmistakable emphasis to the lesson.

Support of basic research, without which the shorter-range programs of applied science must soon stagnate, offers somewhat more difficult problems, the speaker admitted. Fundamental research, he said, is rarely directly or immediately profitable, nor can it readily be made self-supporting. Its principal assets are long-range in nature; yet it is in such areas, free from the drive for profitable results, that freedom of inquiry and of spirit can best operate. Here, in Prof. Taylor's opinion, is where national and state support of research must come in.

Support of research, however, must not come too close control by the supporting governments, he emphasized. Scientists must continue to be masters in their own households.

"But," he concluded, "masters in their own households, there lies upon them the paramount necessity of integrating their skills and their finds with the broad stream of life which flows outside the laboratories. In the free world to which we still dare to look forward we must integrate our skills with the social and spiritual aspects of human life and nature. That goal attained, we shall not lack either direction or support for the sciences."

Plan Flight Tests
In Thunderstorms

By Science Service
Washington—Specially equipped fighter planes will be flown by Army Air Forces pilots in the area of Orlando, Fla., during the worst spring and summer thunderstorms.

The planes will collect instrumental and photographic data on cloud forms and heights, turbulence, precipitation, lightning and temperature.

Ten P-41 Black Widow night fighters will make flights to get the observations and will also test various methods of using radar to find safe paths through storm areas. Army experts hope to use the information from these tests to develop flight procedure and techniques that will reduce the hazards of flying through storms, the War Department reported.

"Rented the first day" said Smith.

Higher Car Prices Authorized By OPA Under New Policy

Washington, March 11 (AP)—OPA opened the way today for higher prices on new automobiles as the result of the revised wage price policy.

The agency authorized the Chrysler, Ford, and Hudson companies to sell their cars on an adjustable pricing basis.

This means they may be sold by both factories and dealers at present ceiling prices, with the provision that the buyer may be billed later for any amount by which OPA may increase ceilings.

An OPA spokesman said there is no indication at this time as to how much the increase may be. He said the higher prices would be announced shortly.

Higher prices for automobiles had been predicted by Stabilization Director Chester Bowles, who has stated that price increases under the new wage-price policy could be expected for consumer metal products.

NEWSMEN BACK UP GRAND JURY

Publishers Urge That
Sigler Be Retained
As Prosecutor

Lansing, Mich., March 11 (AP)—A group of 15 weekly newspaper publishers, asserting they had the support of 19 other daily and weekly publishers, tonight demanded the continuation of the Ingham county grand jury investigating state government and the retention of Kim Sigler as special prosecutor.

A formal statement issued by the group asserted "we believe that a well organized effort is being made to discredit the special prosecutor in the eyes of the public." "We believe that the real result of the present senate committee investigating grand jury expenditures is to discredit Justice Carr (Justice Leland W. Carr of the state supreme court and former grand juror) and Special Prosecutor Kim Sigler and the accomplishments of the grand jury to date in the eyes of the public."

"We condemn the senate as a body for permitting a resolution of this type to get by," the group said. "We do agree that the senate has a perfect right to appoint a committee to investigate grand jury expenditures, providing such investigations, in its findings, made no effort to prejudice public opinion against the grand jury system."

The statement was signed by the following publishers: Harry Myers, Lapeer; William Myers, Lapeer; George R. Averill, Birmingham; Ink White, St. John; Romain McCall, Ithaca; James Gallery, Caro; Richard M. Cook, Hastings; Hal Whiteley, Rogers City; Walter Y. Stanley, Hastings; Muri H. DeFoe, Charlotte; Sam Myers, Middleville; Lester Merritt, Howell; John Lignian, Olivet; Robert D. Gifford, Eaton Rapids; and Claire J. Hewens, Bad Axe.

The group read telegrams of support from publishers in Royal Oak, Mt. Pleasant, Crystal Falls, Ontonagon, Dowagiac, Nashville, Jackson, Manistique, South Haven, Sault Ste. Marie, Cadillac, Pontiac, Ironwood, Edwardsburg, Freemont, Cassopolis, Allegan, Gladwin, Aracac, Gladstone, and from former Governor Chase S. Osborne.

World Monetary
Set-Up Dominated By United States

BY JOHN F. CHESTER

Savannah, March 11 (AP)—The United States moved into a dominant position today in the new world monetary set-up, leaving only a single top-ranking post open to the 34 other member nations of the international bank and monetary fund.

Secretary of the Treasury Fred M. Vinson announced:

That he had been unanimously elected permanent chairman of the boards of the fund and bank;

That the United States would hold the chairmanship of the 12-man executive committee which would serve as a steering group for the twin agencies;

That the United States had decided, despite some pressure from other nations, to accept only the presidency of the international bank instead of both this job and the managing directorship of the monetary fund as well;

And that the American delegation was firmly determined the permanent site for the fund and bank should be in Washington.

ago Reuther had been the ranking union officer on the UAW-CIO committee.

No News From GM

Neither Thomas nor Reuther would comment on reports of the widening rift between them. "No comment" was Thomas' reply to a series of questions concerning himself and Reuther as candidates for the union presidency.

Reuther said the "political situation" within the union was "something for the convention," and he referred questions to an earlier statement that he had made "no decision to run or not to run" for the presidency. "It is not a personal matter," he said, "but one that must be considered on what is best for the union and its members."

The 17 locals announcing support for Reuther represent 235,000 of the UAW-CIO's approximately 1,000,000 members.

The GM and union representatives met again this afternoon, apart on the issues of wage increases, vacation pay and promotions on the basis of seniority as well as a number of lesser questions. The union has demanded a 10½ cents an hour wage increase and the management has insisted it will go no higher than 18½ cents.

At the conclusion of the session, Special Federal Mediator James F. Dewey announced that the meeting will resume at 2 p. m. Tuesday.

He said issues in dispute were discussed today and added: "No comment, sorry, that's the instructions I'm under."

Neither Thomas nor Anderson, who headed the two panels of negotiators, would comment on the meeting.

Charred Skeleton Found In Car Ruins In Mojave Desert

Bakersfield, Calif., March 11 (AP)—Authorities tonight were making efforts to identify a charred skeleton shackled to the burned remains of an automobile in the Mojave desert.

The car was found by three youths late Sunday on a lonely, little-traveled road 12 miles southwest of Mojave, District Attorney Tom Scott said a fire blackened chain was lopped about the skeleton and locked to the right door post by a small padlock.

All that officials had to go on was the fact that the car was registered in the name of Gerald D. Curtis, 34, an Arcadia (Los Angeles county) service station proprietor who was reported missing by his wife Jan. 8, Mrs. Curtis said her husband left their home Jan. 6 to go to his service station in San Marino.

Mrs. Curtis, Deputy Coroner Hugh Gallon said, will come to Mojave tomorrow afternoon to see the skeleton, and Curtis' brother-in-law, Ed Nettleship, is bringing a dentist who had worked on Curtis' teeth. The heat of the fire in the car was so intense that it melted the gold fillings from the teeth.

DAIREN VITAL RUSSIAN PORT

Waters To South Control
Entrance From Yellow Sea

Washington — Waters south of Dairen, over which two Soviet fighter planes are reported to have recently fired warning bursts against a U. S. Navy seaplane, control the entrance from the Yellow sea to the Gulf of Chihli, which is the shipping passageway to populous northern China and southern Manchuria. Dairen and Port Arthur are but two of many ports along the shores of the sea and gulf used normally by commercial vessels of many nations.

The Gulf of Chihli is a somewhat pear-shaped body of water, with its northeasterly top forming the Liaotung Wan, with Manchurian coasts on its land sides. It is roughly about 275 miles long, and half that width at its southern enlargement opposite Tientsin. The Manchurian peninsula, called Liaotung separates Liaotung Wan and the Gulf of Chihli from the Yellow sea, and it is on the southern extremity of this peninsula that both Dairen and Port Arthur are located.

The passageway between the southern end of Liaotung peninsula and the northerly projection Shantung province of China is the 75-mile wide strait of Pechihli, which would prove to be dangerous waters for unwanted vessels if a strong opposing force of naval and air ships were based at Port Arthur or at Dairen.

Port Arthur has an excellent, well-enclosed, deep-water harbor which during part of its history served as a Russian naval base. So desirable was this port to her, that Czarist Russia, in 1898, forced China to lease it to her for 25 years. In 1905, however, Russia lost it to the Japanese as one of the results of the Russo-Japanese war. Japan was given the lease of the port, and most of the peninsula, under the terms of the Portsmouth (N. H.) treaty, by which the Japs gained also the control of Korea.

With Port Arthur used principally as a naval base, Dairen became the important railroad terminal for southern Manchuria and the principal port for foreign shipping. It was a free city, and was one terminal for trans-Siberian freight. Both Dairen and Port Arthur are ice-free ports usable the year-round.

Before a car is touched up, extreme care should be taken that every particle of rust is completely removed with emery paper. If this is not done, the rusting may continue under the paint.

EXPLAIN LOCAL VETERANS' AID

Employment Service And OVA Officials Talk To Rotarians

The purpose and function of the U. S. Employment Service and Office of Veterans Affairs in providing assistance to war veterans and their dependents were described to the Escanaba Rotary club yesterday noon by Elmer Olson, USES veterans representative, and Robert LeMire, OVA counselor.

Olson said that his work with the veteran was largely one of job counseling and employment service. He outlined the procedure followed in placing the veteran on the employment register, and the efforts made to find him work he is suited to perform. In the event the veteran cannot be placed, he is advised to register with the Michigan unemployment commission and receive unemployment compensation.

Most of the job counseling is among youths who were never employed prior to their military service, Olson said. Some of the youths return to high school if they have not graduated. Others receive job training under the apprenticeship program.

There is little work in Delta county for veterans, Olson added. There are 135 job openings for piece makers in the woods, jobs in which the veteran has no experience. Of 10 or 12 other openings, most are for men highly skilled. Altogether there are about 1,100 veterans' applications for jobs in the community.

Robert LeMire, counselor for the Office of Veterans Affairs, described the establishment of the OVA program in Michigan by the legislature at the suggestion of Gov. Kelly in January, 1944. The state made an appropriation to finance an office in Lansing, but the counties are expected to maintain their own OVA offices, LeMire said. Only other state financing is for emergency hospitalization for veterans.

The volume of work with veterans or their dependents at the local office is increasing and because of a lack of funds to finance the office it may be necessary to curtail some of the services, LeMire informed the Rotarians.

"The expense is terrific, but not one cent is being spent foolishly," LeMire said. "We recently asked the Escanaba city council for an appropriation of $2,000, but while it was not denied just nothing was done. It was probably tabled. Now we must start to curtail our activities for lack of funds."

"When I first came back to Escanaba I heard that the Office of Veterans Affairs was just a political set-up," LeMire said. "That's not so. Neither is there any duplication in the service offered by the OVA, the Red Cross, Veterans Administration and other offices established to serve the veteran. All of them are doing a grand job."

In response to a question, LeMire said that he understood Gov. Kelly was to appoint a committee of war veterans who would work out a plan for distribution of a $5,000,000 appropriation to assist Michigan veterans. He said that he hoped Delta county would receive a part of it.

Wedding Present: Right To A Room

Warsaw (AP)—The first couple married under Poland's new law which abolished church ceremonies and requires all marriages be performed before a civil registrar received an unexpected surprise.

Mayor S. Tolwinski, who officiated, gave the bride and groom a government permit to occupy one room with an adjoining kitchen.

In war-ravaged Warsaw, only one room is allowed for each family because of the acute lack of housing facilities.

RAILWAY HEADS GIVEN TRAINING

Employer-Employee Relations Explained At C&NW Meetings

A five-day series of meetings intended to aid Chicago and North Western railway supervisors in improving their technique in the handling of employees opened in Escanaba yesterday.

In charge of the classes is I. B. Barklar, training instructor of Chicago, who for several years was division accountant of the C&NW at Green Bay. He has had extensive experience in teaching the proper employer-to-employee approach.

In his talks Barklar emphasizes the importance of giving proper instructions to new employees and following up to see that all instructions are understood and carried out properly. He points out that it is first necessary to gain the confidence of the employee, then follow up by giving clear, concise orders, and finally to make the worker prove by actual performance that he has learned the details in connection with his job.

This week, supervisors of the tie plant, bridge and building and section departments are attending classes in job instruction at the ore dock office from 9 a. m. to 11 a. m. Classes in job relations are conducted from 2 to 4 p. m. each afternoon at the general offices for other department supervisors.

CRACKDOWN ON GAMBLING

THE Escanaba city council is moving to crack down on all forms of gambling in the city, action that will draw general public support in view of the gambling abuses that have come to the attention of law enforcement officials recently.

The crackdown, if it is to be effective, must necessarily be directed not only against the really serious gambling abuses, such as poker and other card games for large stakes, slot machines, punchboards, pinball machines, etc., but against all forms of public gambling, which includes bingo games. There is much that can be said in defense of the relatively innocuous game of bingo that cannot be said for other gambling schemes and devices, but the plain truth of the matter is simply that bingo is illegal under the laws of the State of Michigan. In the interests of consistency, it is obvious that law enforcement officials cannot close their eyes to one form of public gambling while cracking down on other and more vicious forms of gambling.

The harmful effect of public bingo is simply that it encourages the more abusive type of gambling to develop and spread. Bingo games serve as a "trial balloon" for more sinister forms of gambling. When police officials close their eyes to public bingo games, which they know to be illegal under the Michigan statutes, they encourage the sinister gambling elements in the community to widen their activities with less fear of police interference.

Bingo is illegal because it contains the two essentials for gambling as defined in Michigan public laws—a cash consideration and a prize.

Railroads Still Running

ESCANABA thus far has been somewhat removed from the industrial strife that has been stagnating production in automotive factories and other industries. Last week, it appeared that a walkout of the brotherhoods was imminent, presenting a grave threat to the industrial peace of this community, for Escanaba is a railroad town.

Fortunately, the strike of 300,000 railroad workers did not occur yesterday as was scheduled. President Truman has appointed a fact finding board which will endeavor to settle the differences between railway employees and managements without resort to a crippling strike.

The railroad brotherhoods have acquired good leadership through years of experience in unionism. For 20 years there has not been a major railroad strike, for some way always has been found to settle the disputes over the conference table. Another factor in the maintenance of peace on the railroads has been the national mediation board, created under the Railway Labor Act passed by Congress in 1926.

The Railway Labor Act encourages the ironing out of disputes by mediation and arbitration, all of which delays strike action and affords time for tempers to cool. If one side refuses to submit its case to an arbitration board, the president of the United States is asked to appoint a fact-finding board, which makes a thorough study of the issues involved in the dispute. President Truman's fact-finding board has 30 days to report in the current dispute, and by gentlemen's agreement there can be no strike for 30 days after the board reports.

In the end, some satisfactory solution is usually found. There is an old saying that "time heals all wounds," and it may have been the inspiration for the Railway Labor Act.

U. P. Industrial Data

THE Upper Peninsula Development Bureau has decided it would not be advisable to engage an engineer to make a survey of the industrial advantages of the region.

Perhaps, it is just as well. During the past decade or so, various governmental agencies have made economic studies of the Upper Peninsula. The reports are likely gathering dust in the archives, for nothing has been heard about them since.

Instead, the Bureau will ask each community to submit its industrial data, which will be used to compile a prospectus for the region. This will be sent to various prospects who might consider locating in the Upper Peninsula.

Actually, the attracting of new industries at this particular time is not a complex problem. Any community that has a vacant industrial building, in good state of repair and ready for occupancy, should be able to get tenants. The experience of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce should be helpful to any communities that are interested in industrial development.

New Finn President

PREMIER Paasikivi has been chosen by the Finnish parliament to serve as president of Finland, succeeding the 78-year-old Baron Gustaf Mannerheim who resigned.

The change should be all for the good of Finland. Under Baron Mannerheim's leadership, Finland became involved in a series of difficult situations during World War II. As a result, the Finnish republic lost much of the good will it had gained through years of honesty and fair dealing with other nations.

Baron Mannerheim was identified with the reactionary interests of Finland and Europe. Mannerheim's faction plunged Finland in World War II as an ally of Germany, much to the dissatisfaction of many of the freedom-loving people of that country.

The Finns are a democratic people, and under President Paasikivi likely will have the opportunity to reconstruct a new and better Finland on the ashes of the old.

Exploiting Veterans

IT is encouraging to note that the Veterans Administration is recognizing the dangers of exploitation of veterans that exist under the "on the job" training program established by the GI Bill of Rights and is planning adequate safeguards against these dangers.

Already there has been scandalous exploitation of veterans under the "earn-learn" vocational training program. The tendency is for some employers to use veterans merely to lighten their own payrolls. In these cases, the employers pay the veterans less than they would pay other similar employees because the veterans receive subsistence allowance from the federal government.

The subsistence payments, which are $65 to $90 per month, are supposed to supplement the normal earnings of veterans during their period of "on the job" training. Too often the employers are more interested in payroll savings effected by the employment of such veterans than they are in developing an adequate training program for these men.

Recognizing this situation, the VA is now planning to draft minimum uniform standards for employers and training. In the public interest as well as in the interests of the veterans, it is hoped that the plan will establish proper safeguards against further exploitation of veterans under the "earn-learn" provisions of the GI Bill of Rights.

RADAR VERSUS ROCKETS

(Toledo Blade)
In an effort to find a means as "quickly as possible" to defend the United States against "a sudden enemy rocket attack," the Army Air Forces is planning to conduct experiments which will pit radar against rockets.

The object of the experiments, according to Brig. Gen. William L. Richardson, chief of the Air Staff's Guided Missiles Division, will be to see if rockets whizzing through the stratosphere at 3,000 miles an hour can be apprehended by radar. If they can be detected, he says, "it will be possible to design a 'counter-attack' rocket that will be controlled by radar and will be capable of intercepting the enemy rocket at a predetermined point in its course." Thus even projectiles carrying an atomic bomb as their striking force might be exploded "harmlessly" in mid-air before they reached their objectives.

The fact that none of the German V-2 rockets, which will be employed in the experiments, were knocked down by the British as the bombarded their cities from a range of 100 miles or more does not mean that science cannot devise miraculous defensive weapons to combat miraculous offensive weapons which science has devised. Radar at least helped the RAF beat back the Luftwaffe when, for a while, it looked as though Britain was doomed. Perhaps new defensive devices can offset new secret weapons to the same extent if another war should come.

Somehow, though, we doubt that the people of London and other battered English cities or the people of Warsaw, Rotterdam, Belgrade, or the devastated Russian cities will derive much comfort from the possibility. When military experts undertake to combat rockets carrying atomic bombs, the superiority of one device over another will be somewhat technical. With victor and vanquished both blasted into catastrophic ruins by the rockets carrying atomic bombs which do get through to their targets, it will be very slight comfort for the winner to say, "You ought to see the other fellow."

Now we read that men's clothes are to be bright this spring. Bright and shiny, no doubt!

Most women don't go by the latest fashions, says an expert. But they do go by them!

WORDS TO WATCH

Overheard on a Soap Opera: "She can't see you now—she's in DISH-uh-bill." The word dishabile, pronounced: day-zuh-bee-YAY. Both words mean, "a loose negligee; a state of undress." The English form, dishabile, is pronounced: diss-uh-BEEL.

The Latin word finis is often used in the meaning of "the end; conclusion," as at the end of a book. The correct English pronunciation rhymes the first syllable with "by, my," thus: FY-niss.

The word wrestle is akin to the verb to wrest, "to twist or wrench away." How wrestle came to have the corrupted pronunciation "RASS-ul" is not clear. Careful speakers will avoid the flat "a" sound in both wrestle and wrestler. Correct: RESS-1, RESS-ler.

The word piquant means, "sharp, pungent," as, a piquant sauce. Do not pronounce the "qu" like "kw." Better say:

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—Of all the men in President Truman's oddly assorted inner circle, no one has more influence, and at the same time is less known to the public, than Admiral William D. Leahy.

It is not merely on military and diplomatic matters that the 70-year-old admiral gives the President the benefit of his counsel. Often, in his dry, ironic fashion, he advises on political and economic issues as well.

The President has come to lean heavily on this counselor whom he inherited from his predecessor. It had been assumed that Leahy would retire to private life after the death of his good friend Franklin Roosevelt. The other wartime leaders are either in retirement or are doing special jobs far removed from the center of power. But Leahy, who has a reserve and a taciturnity that serve as a barrier between him and most people, is today firmly entrenched in the White House.

—ANNAPOLIS CAREER—

This is a curious climax for an Annapolis man who, until 1939, followed the traditional Navy career.

As the result of a friendship which had begun when Roosevelt was assistant secretary of the Navy during World War I, came Leahy's assignment from President Roosevelt in 1939 to be governor of Puerto Rico. He won great popularity during his year in that office.

In 1940, Roosevelt made him ambassador to Vichy France. His instructions were to make friends with Marshal Petain.

This proved not in the least difficult for Leahy. The dour admiral, who knows how to unbend when circumstances call for it, and the gossipoid old Marshall became firm friends. Leahy spent hours in the Marshal's suit in Vichy's hotel Du Parc as the shadowy figures of France's collaborationist government came and went.

In fact, the Admiral grew so attached to Petain that, after he returned to this country in 1942 to become the President's personal chief of staff, he refused to believe any evil of the old Marshal. Even when the story of Petain's foolish and scandalous behavior as ambassador to Spain became known, Admiral Leahy continued to believe that Petain had meant the best for France.

Petain, convicted of treason, today languishes in bored confinement on the little Ile D'Yeu in the Bay of Biscay. He will soon be 90 years old.

Having had only a limited experience of world politics during his naval career, Leahy was probably more susceptible to the impressions he received during those two critical years in France than a man with a broader background would have been. The crisis between the extreme left and extreme right, which smolders beneath the surface in France today, was then acute. Leahy's experience at Vichy may well have implanted his deep suspicions of communism. There is no doubt that he has recently played an important part in persuading the President of the need to take a firmer stand toward the Soviets.

The new policy, first expressed in Secretary of State Byrnes' recent speech, was formulated in a series of White House talks that frequently found the President expressing sharp irritation over Russian maneuvers. He did not conceal from visitors his resentment of Soviet conduct.

—READ CHURCHILL'S SPEECH—
The President, incidentally, went over the text of Winston Churchill's Fulton, Mo., speech before it was delivered. The two men discussed in considerable detail the history-making address.

It is when Leahy's advice touches on domestic policy that his role is most resented by others close to the President. In moments when his patience snaps, National Democratic Chairman Robert Hannegan has been known to blow off on the subject of the kind advice the president needs.

Current rumors have Hannegan resigning. If that happens, as it may, one reason will be the national chairman's feeling of frustration when he walks into the President's office and sees the little circle on whom the President relies.

In their own special fields, some of these advisers have great knowledge and capacity. Leahy, for example, knows as much about the conduct of the war on the very top level as any living American. He was present at all the important conferences.

But these advisers are not universal experts. When they step outside their specialized fields, they are capable of bungling. That is something the President has still to learn.

PEE-knt.

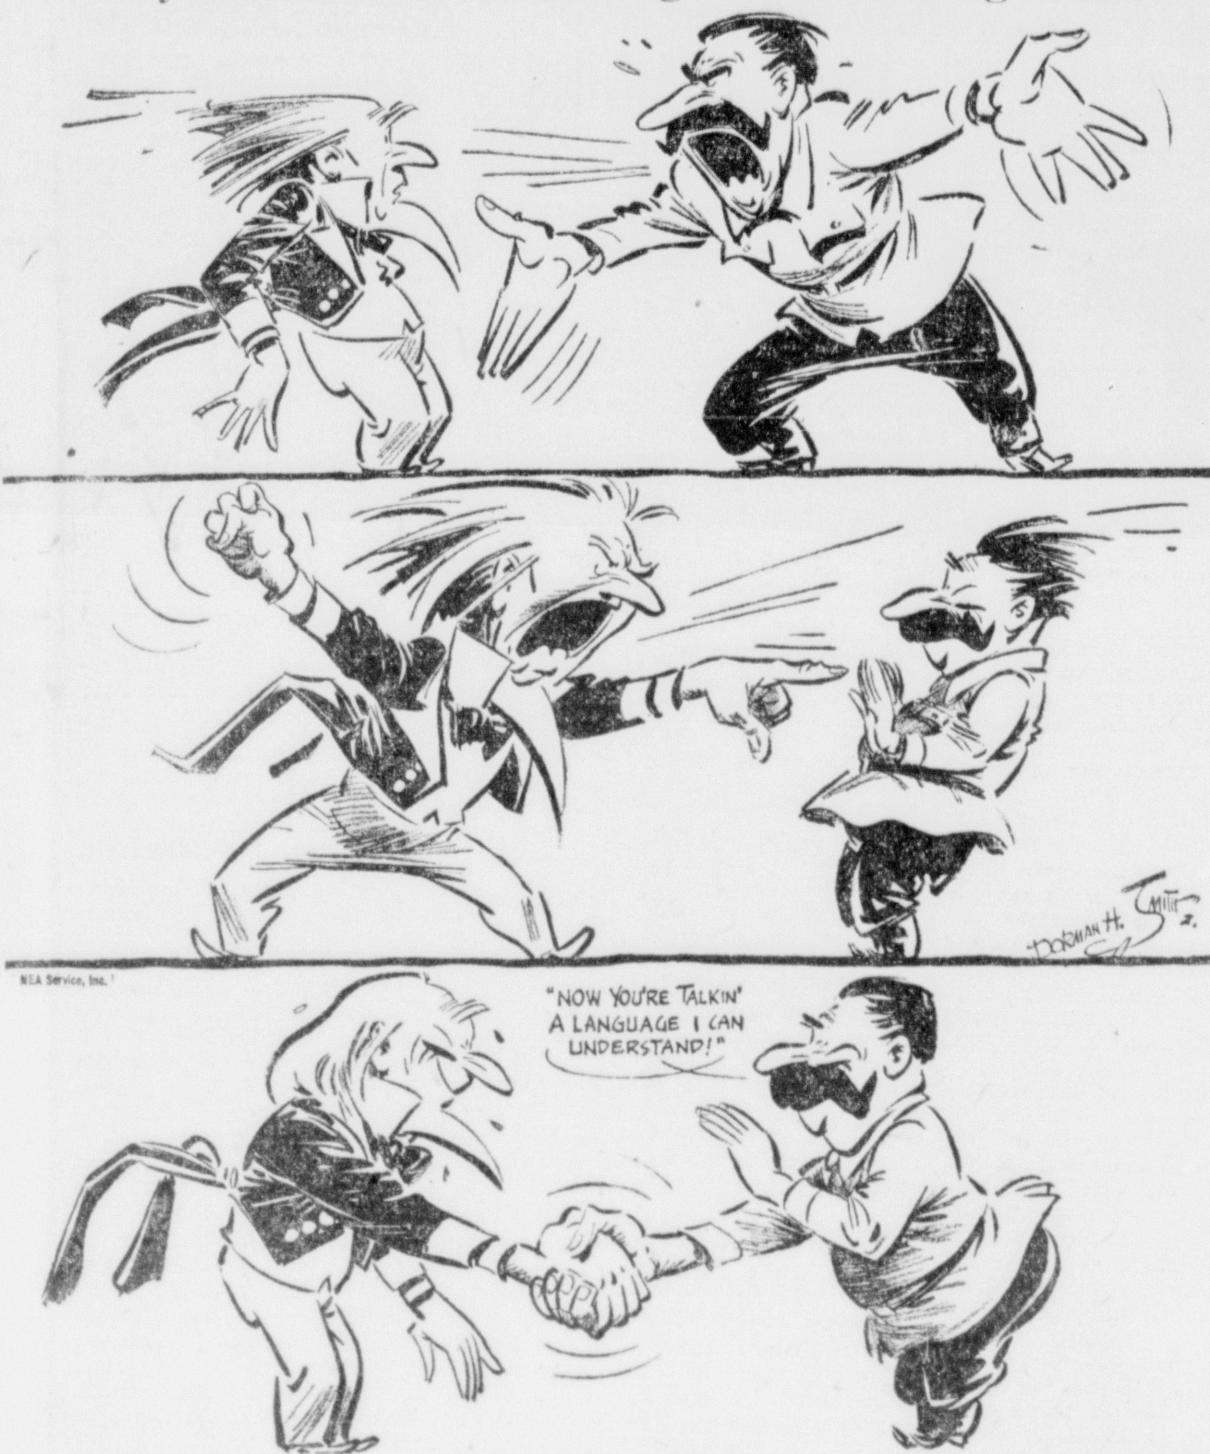

Overheard in a theatre lobby: "And I says to him, I says, 'If you don't buy me some neckties soon,' I says, 'I'll be literally NECK-id,' I says." The lady, I was relieved to note, was not only well clothed but expensively so. Her "nakedness" was, of course, figurative (no pun intended) and not literal. She should have pronounced it: NAY-ked.

Occasionally: Since alternate is accented on the first syllable, why is it that alternate is not too?—C. A.

Answer: Most -ative words are accented on the second syllable. The customary American pronunciation for alternative is: awl-TER-nuh-tiv. Some speakers rhyme the first syllable with "bal, gal," as al-TER-nuh-tiv, but it is being heard less often as time goes on.

THE COAT—It was about one year ago that Mrs. William O'Hern of 324 South Tenth street wrote a little note and slipped it into the pocket of the coat she was giving in the clothing drive. I wonder who will receive this coat, and if they will answer, she thought as she packed the coat with others in the boxes at St. Joseph's church hall. It would be interesting to hear from someone from a foreign land, and to know that the coat was received by a war refugee.

Dunathan

The months passed and no word was received by Mrs. O'Hern in reply. Other clothing collections were held, and tons of new and used garments were collected in Escanaba and Delta county and sent overseas. Mrs. O'Hern had almost forgotten the note she had placed in the coat pocket when a letter came addressed to her, written in Greek.

She took the letter to Sam Rouman and George Prokos at the Boston Sweet Shop, who translated it for her. The writer, they said, was evidently not too well educated. But there was no doubt as to the heartfelt sincerity of the writer. The letter was dated Athens, Dec. 18, 1945, and read as follows:

"Today that I am writing you they gave me a coat, as I am a needy poor girl. I put my hand in the pocket and found a card written by you, saying to answer back. Please accept my thanks for your wishes to keep me warm."

"Because of the war going on they killed my father and the only brother we had, and left us on the streets, two sisters and my old mother, without income from anywhere, barefoot, hungry and without a home, our home being destroyed."

"A gentleman gave us a room in a hotel. We live in one room. But the owner wants us to move out. He needs the room. We do not know where to go."

"We have no support from anyone but God. That wasn't enough when my brother and father were killed. During the internal uprising they stole all our blankets and sheets, they left us nothing. Just what we wear and nothing else. So my dearest lady with a good heart and good soul, I take courage to write you my sorrow."

"We are very needy and we would appreciate any old clothing and shoes, and it would be much appreciated. To us it would be wealth. Dear lady, you must know the needs of a war-torn family. I have a sister that is 22 years old and was wounded by shrapnel. My mother is 63 years old and I am 24 years old. My name is Koula, my mother's name is Helen, and my sister's name is Friday."

"Please excuse that I am writing in Greek. I know no other language. You have much regards from my mother and sister. We wish you, the three of us, a Merry Christmas and health and happiness through 1946."

With much respect and love, Koula Stouraitou

Others on the committee are: Other Schuster, Manistique; Carl Nordberg, Escanaba; Edward DeGraaf, Manistique; Harry Burris, Sault Ste. Marie; and Harry Buchman, Rapid River. Out of the nets of Daniels and Sons, commercial fishermen in Little Bay de Noc, came a little mystery which has local sportsmen and fish experts guessing yesterday. It is about a foot long and without scales and the color is silver-gray. Pictures of fish studied show it's likeness to a salt water fish named "Smelt." And there you have it.

Mrs. Mable Gamache of the Smartwear Shop in Escanaba received two letters telling her of the appreciative with which gifts of clothing were received. Mrs. Gamache contributed 18 dresses in the clothing drive more than a year ago. She received two letters from Holland recently, one written in English by a girl of 19, and a second in Dutch by an older woman. She had the second letter translated. Both told stories of suffering and privation, of appreciation to the American Red Cross, and to those who gave to aid the destitute.

The young woman who wrote in English spoke highly of the Red Cross, and wrote ecstatically that her family had received "a beautiful present"—a bar of soap for each of them. It was the first soap they had had in four years. Soap was particularly scarce, they had none for laundry or for baths.

"I have made up a collection of laundry and facial soap into a package of eleven pounds—that is as much as you can send at one time—and mail them to the women who wrote me," Mrs. Gamache said.

G. I.—VETERANS' SERVICE

Q. What is the regulation regarding discharge of Army prisoners-of-war?

A. American prisoners-of-war who were out of the U. S. control in enemy or enemy-occupied territory for at least 60 days are eligible for discharge. However, those eligible must have completed the rehabilitation program and must meet physical requirements for discharge.

Q. Is there any truth in the rumor that fathers of two children will be eligible for discharge outside the demobilization program?

A. No. In fact, the Senate Military Affairs Committee recently rejected a proposal to release all fathers in the armed forces. The War Department takes the position that the granting of special consideration to particular groups of men (such as fathers) would largely nullify the intent of the point and length of service system of demobilization.

Q. Do men in the Army now stationed overseas continue to accumulate points?

A. No. Army point scores are frozen as of Sept. 2, 1945. That is, men in the Army in the U. S. and overseas cannot count points for service, etc. after that date.

OF GENERAL INTEREST
Q. Is it true that there are pensions still being paid to Civil War veterans?

A. Approximately 229 veterans of the Union Army drew such pensions last year. The survivors averaged 998 years in age.

Q. What kind of wine should be used to improve the flavor of soup?

A. A cup of wine added a few minutes before soups are ready to serve greatly improves the flavor. Sweet wines such as Sherry and Madeira are generally used for soups made principally of meat and fish stock, and the dry white wines, like Moselle, Sauterne, or Hock are used for soups with a vegetable stock, as pea soup, bean soup, etc.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—Henry Wallace has walked across the White House threshold hundreds of times, but rarely was he more heavyhearted than when he went in to confer with his good friend, Harry Truman, regarding the atom bomb.

Pearson

Wallace had been asked by Truman to keep an eye on the battle of atomic energy now raging on Capitol Hill, and the purpose of his visit was to tell the President the latest and saddest news—that the Senate Atomic Committee was ready to report out a bill which would turn atomic energy over to the same military control which delayed its development during the war.

If atomic energy is left in the hands of the military, Wallace told Truman, the army would be in a position to take the first steps toward Fascism this country has ever seen.

For example, the army would be able to: (1) Appoint military men exclusively to the presidential commission on atomic energy; (2) put such blanket restrictions on communication between scientists that atomic research would be halted; (3) give the military the right to fire any scientist from the public or private employment; (4) give the military full authority to make its own laws for people working on atomic energy "over and above the espionage act"; (5) set up criminal penalties for discussion of atomic information among scientists over and above those prescribed by congress; and (6) permit private ownership of fissionable material (the material from which atomic bombs are made).

Wallace pointed out that it was absurd to give such powers to the military in times of peace.

"We wouldn't give them control of all gasoline or coal, even though they too are used for national defense, would we?" The Secretary of Commerce agreed.

—TRUMAN OPPOSES MILITARY—

President Truman emphatically agreed. He went even further and promised that he would do everything he could to prevent brass-hat military control of atomic energy.

How far the President will get with the Senate and House committees, however, is problematical. The Senate committee on atomic energy is one of the most reactionary on Capitol Hill, while on the House side, Chairman Andrew May of the Military Affairs committee says privately that when the atom bill gets into secret Senate-House conference he will make sure that his own May-Johnson bill is substituted for any non-military measure that Senator McMahon of Connecticut is able to write.

What has happened in the senate hearings is interesting. The Senate committee has listened to the scientists who did the real work on the atom bomb—but then has turned around and appears ready to ignore them. Instead the committee is giving more weight to Gen. Leslie Groves, who at first considered the atom bomb a new deal boondoggling project.

Although in charge of the atom project it was months before Groves did anything more than snicker at the idea that it could blow up the world.

When Professor Harold Urey, one of the chief atom scientists, was asked the other day how much General Groves contributed to the atom bomb, he replied:

"He didn't retard it more than 18 months."

—VOTED AGAINST VETERANS—

Veterans are considering a new symbol which may become as famous as the label "Made by Union Labor." It will probably take the form of the initials "YAV."

When these initials are used immediately following a congressman's name, it will indicate that he "voted against veterans."

Congressmen, already sensitive about this year's elections, are worried sick about last week's vote on subsidies which would have permitted low-cost homes at a price-range which veterans could afford.

This worry was why congress ducked a roll-call vote. If each congressman had been forced to stand up and be counted, it would have been political suicide for some. Instead a "teller" vote has taken, which meant that congressmen merely walked swiftly down the center of the aisle to be counted.

However, alert newsmen standing just above the press gallery carefully tabulated those voting against veterans' housing. The Republicans, except for a few liberals like Charles LaFollette of Indiana, George Bender of Ohio voted as a block against veterans.

The Democrats, despite a plea from President Truman himself, plus telegrams from Bob Hannegan, split ranks. Here are the Democrats who in the future will be labelled "YAVH" (voted against veterans' housing) in this important test vote: Barden, N. C.; Brown, Ga.; Camp, Ga.; Colmer, Miss.; Cox, Ga.; Gravens, Ark.; Doughton, N. C.; Durham, N. C.; Earhartman, Tenn.; Ervin, N. C.; Gathings, Ark.; Gibson, Ga.; Hare, S. C.; Lanham, Tex.; McMillan, S. C.; Manasco, Ala.; May, Ky.; Mills, Ark.; Murdock, Ariz.; Murray, Tenn.; Pagen, Ga.; Page, Tex.; Riley, S. C.; Roe, Md.; Russell, Tex.; Slaughter, Mo.; Smith, Va.; Summers, Tex.; Tarver, Ga.; Vinson, Ga.; Whitten, Miss.; Whittington, Miss.

THE THREE SCOURGES OF MAN

★ Devastating epidemics have ranked with war and famine as population levelers. Of these three scourges of man, pestilence was most dreaded. During the Black Plague epidemic of 1348, it was estimated that in some places over two-thirds of the population was wiped out.

The discovery of bacteria as the cause of infectious disease is still within the memory of the living. Pasteur developed the first vaccine for rabies in 1885. Since that time many immunizing procedures have become routine. As a consequence, deaths from infectious diseases have been drastically reduced.

Everyone should be protected against smallpox and diphtheria as an absolute minimum. Do not wait for an epidemic to break out. Then it is often too late.

WOULD PEP UP
SCOUT PROGRAMScouters Plead For More Interest In Local Troops

A broader participation in the local Boy Scout program was urged by Fred Hahne, chairman of the Red Buck District Boy Scouts of America at a recent meeting of Manistique Scouters held at the directors' rooms of the First National Bank.

"The Scouting program," he said, "is well received by all in Manistique, but it is left up to a certain few and many of those have no boys of their own on the Scouting program." He urged that something be done to further this interest and said that if something was not done Scouting in Manistique would suffer greatly.

Suggestions made by the district advancement committee at a recent meeting at Nahma for the granting of awards on a troop basis were again discussed at the meeting here. The proposal, which is four-fold, takes in the following considerations: The award should be of some useful nature, a flag, etc.; the award should be given on a percentage basis based on rank classification, with respect also to the merit badge field; that a mark of 90 per cent was a fair average; and that camping activities without consideration of summer camp should be included.

According to a report submitted at the meeting, a Cubbing program, leading up to Scoutdom, was badly needed in Manistique.

Lowell Hebbard, neighborhood commissioner, spoke very plainly and emphatically on work that will have to be done in "pepping up" interest in Scouting in Manistique. He suggested that a father and son banquet or a pot luck supper be held in the near future to arouse interest in Scouting in the community.

Report on the advancement of troops showed that Troops 460 and 461 were on the up-trend, but Troop 462 was very low in this field.

Talking on city matters yesterday before the Gladstone Rotary club, City Manager H. J. Henrikson explained that the boost of over 50 per cent in taxes was not due to the reappraisal which is now in progress but caused by an order of the State Tax Commission which made a spot check and ordered the city to use a total assessed valuation of close to $3,000,000 instead of the total that had been used.

Equalization of property values as determined by the Clemenish survey will not go into effect until after the board of review in June.

Touching on postwar projects, Manager Henrikson said that one of the important jobs is the installation of storm sewers and a program which will entail the expenditure of an estimated $125,000 over a period of ten years or more if the cost is borne entirely by the city. If state or federal aid is forthcoming it may be completed in two or three years. A sum of $10,000 is being set up in the 1946-47 budget for this purpose.

Too large a paving program in past years without considering the problem of disposing of storm water has caused the present situation, the manager said.

Parks will come in for their share of attention and improvement of the outer harbor to allow larger craft to dock here is planned.

Construction of a Class 1 airport with provision for development into a Class 4 if need warrants is also planned. Funds for the topographical survey for a Class 1 port have already been allocated by the state, he said. In answer to a question as to possible cost, Henrikson said he had no estimate, but that development of a Class 4 port might run to $150,000 or $200,000.

The psychology behind the adoption of the penalty system for failure to pay utility bills promptly was explained and Rotarians learned that the method has been very successful, cutting delinquencies from $10,000 to about $1,000.

Manager Henrikson told of additions made to the municipal equipment and also explained how the city checked to eliminate sources of radio interference.

Three members of the Gladstone high school Class of 1946 are being awarded diplomas by virtue of having completed their high school courses or the equivalent while in the armed service of their nation.

The three youths are Gene M. "Duke" Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross P. Davis, 1302 Lake Shore Drive; Fred Neurohr Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Neurohr Sr., of Brampton; and John A. Strom, son of Mrs. Hildur Strom, 818 Michigan avenue.

He served as a hospital apprentice second class and later took a course in medical technology at Camp Elliott, San Diego, and it is on the strength of the advanced training in special fields that he is being graduated.

John Strom, who dropped school after his freshman year, enlisted in the Navy and attained an officer's commission. He took the United States Armed Forces Institute examination which is a test of general educational development and scored higher than do 93 per cent of high school graduates in the north central states. Fred Neurohr entered service during his junior year. He completed his high school work through the U. S. Armed Forces Institute taking a regular high school course as outlined by Supt. Wallace Cameron's office.

HAWKS BEATEN BY SENTINELS

Marquette Team Scores Two Victories In Single Day

The Marquette Sentinels hockey team defeated the Escanaba Hawks, 8 to 2, Sunday afternoon before a good sized crowd of fans at the indoor rink, and then walloped Wausau Veterans, 15 to 3, in an evening game at the Palstra in Marquette. The double-header provided tuneups for the Sentinels in preparation for the Gibson cup series with the Soo Atomics.

At Escanaba, the Sentinels rolled up a 6-2 lead by the end of the first period, added a pair of goals in the second period, and then called it a day. One of the goals and two of the assists were made by Coach Wackey Olson, playing his first game since he broke his jaw in an early-season encounter.

Marquette's scoring at Escanaba went this way: Art Brunelle from brother Fred; John Wanberg from scrimmage; Fred Brunelle from Bob Wanberg; Clarence Matt, unassisted; W. Olson, unassisted; John Wanberg, scrimmage. Escanaba's interruptions in the first frame were by Al Grabowski, unassisted, and Petka from scrimmage.

The second-period scores were scored in the same manner: Boots Kukuk from Wackey Olson.

They Looked Good
The game with the Wausau Veterans was a little one-sided game—but not all of the time, and the fans got their money's worth anyway. Marquette took the opportunity to get in some good practice on combination plays against uneven opposition. Everybody looked good, and the aces were spectacular.

The Sentinels socked in four goals in the first period while holding the visitors scoreless; outscored them 7-2 in the second frame, and 4-3 in the last. Two of the Veterans' third-period goals were scored in the opening minute of the stanza, Drew and Drenkler unassisted.

Hunting And Fishing

By Sid Gordon

A Deer Hunter Can Be Dumb

A deer hunter, one who hunts partridge, sharpshooting or prairie chicken, must know his stuff. You don't just stumble on to grouse if you wish to be classed as a good bird hunter. You must know where the birds feed and what they feed upon, but deer hunting is different.

Those are the words I spoke to a young fellow who is back from the war and is making plans to hunt deer with the boys next season. He asked me how he could join a party of old timers and not be shown up for a greenhorn.

"Can you shoot a rifle," I asked. Timidly he owned up to the fact that he could hit a bull's eye at several hundred yards and had a badge to prove it. Then I told him that I thought I was a deer hunter and that he could outshoot me and probably 50 per cent of us old timers in the woods.

"Just be dumb, meek and humble when you go out with old timers," I said, "and never tell them that you can shoot. Listen to their talk and get all you can about the habits of the deer and some of their words knowledge. Then ask them to place you in any spot which they regard as good deer country."

"Go there real early in the morning, before daylight, and if the does are using through there in any numbers, stick there day after day. The bucks follow the does, and you will hardly ever see a buck ahead of a doe. I do not believe that I have ever seen the buck show first," I said.

"But that really is the least part of your deer hunting," I said. "In the old days a still hunter had to know how to hunt for he was a lone hunter. Today it is different. I know the county in which you are going to hunt and you are going to have a great deal of help," I said.

"Help from whom?" he asked. "According to Otis Bersing, who made a survey of the deer hunters for William Grimmer, head of game management for Wisconsin, there were 10,000 deer hunters in that county last season. They will be there again next season. Let them help you," I said.

"How can they help me?" asked the lad. "Just be dumb," I said. "With 10,000 deer hunters ramming around one county, some still hunting and other thousands driving deer, they stir up every buck in a square, thick, swamp or marsh. Sit there in a likely spot day after day. With your marksmanship I'll bet you knock over a buck, if you don't get all 'tumbled' on first."

And now, if there are any old timers, who wish to get up on their hind legs and object to the advice I gave the lad, let's hear your objections. But be ready to wager 2 to 1 that the lad will get a deer!

EVERS HOTTEST TIGER ROOKIE

Former Beaumont Star Is Cinch To Land Outfield Berth

BY FRANK KENESSON

Lakeland, Fla., March 11 (AP)—Hottest young prospect in the Lakeland training camp of the world champion Tigers is an ambitious 25-year-old service dischargee who wants it forgotten that he pitched the Waco (Texas) Army Air Base Wolves to a three-hit victory in the championship game of the 1945 Texas semi-pro tournament.

"Let's forget all about that business; I don't want to be a pitcher," declared blue-eyed Walter (Hoot) Evers, whose sensational hitting, running, fielding and pitching helped the Waco service team to three successive state championships and earned the former University of Illinois basketball star the title of "most valuable of all most valuable" in the history of the Texas tournament.

Evers, strictly unproven as a major league only because the war interrupted his professional career after a banner 1942 season at Beaumont, is almost a cinch to land a regular berth in the 1946 Detroit outfield where such outstanding material as Dick Wakefield, Barney McCosky, Pat Mullin, Doc Cramer and Roy Cullenbine is tuning up under the scrutiny of Manager Steve O'Neill.

As a matter of fact, Evers has many insiders of the Tiger organization convinced that he might easily turn out to be the American League's "rookie of the year."

"The guy can do everything," asserts Catcher George (Birdie) Tebbetts, who managed the Waco service team for two years during the war while Hoot was belting the ball for a three-year batting average of .360 against such pitching as served up by major leaguers Howie Pollet, Tex Hughson and Ed Head.

O'Neill, who managed Evers at Beaumont in 1942 when he barely was nosed out of the Texas League batting championship by teammate Dick Wakefield, is just as solid on the six-foot, two-inch, 180-pound blond.

"He looks good out there all right," said O'Neill, weighing his February prediction that Wakefield, McCosky and Mullin would comprise the Tigers' regular outfield.

Breaking into organized ball at Winston-Salem in 1941 after signing with Detroit at a free agent, Evers moved to Beaumont the following year and hit .322, batting in 32 runs. His hitting averages with the Waco service team were .300 in 1943, .330 in 1944, and .452 in 1945.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 11 (AP)—Home runs by Johnny Sturm and Joe DiMaggio; the latter's second in two games, gave the New York Yankees their third consecutive exhibition victory over the St. Louis Cardinals today, 7 to 4.

About all that can be said for the district basketball tournament setup is that it provides a basis by which four teams in each class can be selected to advance to the Upper Peninsula finals tournament. No thought has ever been given to the problem of equalizing the district tournaments, although this rank inequality in the district assignments has long been recognized by everyone who has ever taken the trouble to study the situation. In the Class E tournament at Rapid River, for instance, there are eight entrants while in the Class E district tournament at Marquette, there are only three. Yet from each of these tournaments, one team will qualify for the upper peninsula finals tournament at Ironwood.

The other day some of the Eskymo cagers were discussing the approaching district tournament at Menominee and one of the lads commented that the Escanaba team would relish the chance

ROOKIE'S BLOW BEATS DETROIT

Homer In 12th Inning Gives Indians 4-3 Win At Lakeland

BY FRANK KENESSON

Clearwater, Fla., March 11 (AP)—Rookie Pitcher Winslow (Winky) Stroupe bashed a 12th inning home run over the 290-foot right field screen here today as the Cleveland Indians took a 4 to 3 victory from the world champion Detroit Tigers in their opening exhibition game at "home."

Stroupe, who worked six innings as the third Cleveland hurler, scattered four of Detroit's eight hits and yielded two of the Tiger runs.

Tommy Bridges, Stubby Overwire, Louis Jretlow and Virgil Trucks of the Tigers fielded eight hits. Trucks, who served up Stroupe's home run ball, was the losing pitcher.

Stroupe's homer was the fourth of the game over the right field fence, Rip Radcliff and Harvey Riebe of the Tigers and Les Fleming of the Indians getting the others.

Walter (Hoot) Evers, stellar Tiger center fielder, doubled home the run that tied the score at 3-all in the eighth and threw out Gene Woodling trying to score the winning run after an outfield fly in the Tribe half of the same inning.

Dick Wakefield, Detroit outfielder, missed the game with a pulled groin muscle.

Peacetime Flying Aided By Cloud Measuring Device

Washington—The ceilometer, a delicate electronic instrument for measuring the height of clouds, will soon be in operation at 140 weather stations in the United States, reported W. R. Thickstun, chief, instrument division, Weather Bureau, Department of Commerce.

Capable of measuring the heights of clouds up to 15,000 or 20,000 feet in daylight and up to 20,000 feet at night, the new instrument was developed during the war.

The ceilometer consists of two separate instruments, a powerful arc-light projector which flashes a beam of light into the sky to reflect from the base of a cloud layer, and a photo-electric cell or electronic eye mounted in a telescope-like apparatus, that picks up the reflected light beam. Measurements are computed in a similar manner to that used with a mariner's sextant, with a triangle formed by the two parts of the ceilometer and the cloud layer.

DROUGHT CYCLE BELIEVED AHEAD

Population Of Fish And Waterfowl To Drop As Sportsmen Increase

BY HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York, Mar. 11 (AP)—There's evidence of another drought cycle immediately ahead with a resultant drop in the continental population of fish and waterfowl just when the number of sportsmen is on the increase, the North American Wildlife Conference was told today.

Dr. Ira N. Gabrielson, who resigned last week as director of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, told the delegates that if the "unfavorable conditions re-occur with all the intensity of the previous drought cycle, the various conservation developments of the past decade will produce some wildlife which should prevent conditions deteriorating as far as they did between 1915 and 1935."

Gabrielson estimated the present duck population as four times greater than that of 1935. He warned, however, that an estimated 1,700,000 duck stamps were sold during 1945, an increase of a quarter million, and "that not all went to stamp collectors."

The department records show that 8,190,901 hunting licenses were sold in 1945 and that fishing permits for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1945, numbered 8,280,232.

Gabrielson, who expects to "go on a long fishing trip" of his own when his resignation becomes effective April 1, predicted that highway construction soon would make all parts of the United States available to the sportsmen.

Dr. Gabrielson's address was the feature of the first day's meeting of the conference which will continue until Wednesday. His successor, Albert M. Day, addresses the scientists and wildlife experts tomorrow.

Low Melting Gold Alloy Discovered

Chicago—A low-melting gold alloy with several other unusual properties was described here at a meeting of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers by Dr. Robert I. Jaffee of the Battelle Memorial Institute, Columbus, Ohio, where the alloy has been recently studied.

It is a gold-germanium alloy, 88 per cent gold and 12 per cent germanium. The latter is one of the less known metallic elements, but it is mined in the United States and is considerably cheaper than gold. The alloy melts at 673 degrees Fahrenheit, only 50 degrees higher than the melting point of lead. It is what scientists call a gold-germanium "eutectic," a term applied to an alloy with a lower fusing point than its components have by themselves. Gold melts at 1945 degrees Fahrenheit, and germanium at approximately 1760 degrees.

This eutectic is harder than ordinary gold alloys and has superior wearing qualities. These properties make it of value in jewelry. Another property of the alloy, Dr. Jaffee stated, is its slight expansion on solidification, which compensates for contraction in cooling to room temperature. Because of this property, he said, extremely precise castings, such as dental inlays, can be made, and these dental castings would require no correction to take care of shrinkage that occurs with most alloys.

Because of the low melting point of the alloy, it can be used as a solder by jewelers doing repair work on gold jewelry. They can obtain the necessary heat to melt it with a common gas flame. Gold-coated jewelry of long-wearing properties can be made by merely dipping the object to be plated into the molten eutectic.

This gold-germanium alloy is not entirely new to metallurgists. It was first mentioned in an obscure German publication, Dr. Jaffee said. But Battelle Institute has been conducting experiments with it to determine its best uses. The chief interest in the metal at the present, he stated, is its potentialities as a rectifier in radar equipment.

Germanium is produced as a by-product in the production of cadmium. It resembles silicon in appearance and is closely related to silicon in nature, he explained. It was first discovered by a German scientist in 1886, but little thought was given to its utilization until recent years. The U. S. Bureau of Mines states that germanium is a crystalline gray-white metal, with chemical properties intermediate between those of silicon and tin. While far from being abundant, germanium can be recovered in rather large quantities in the form of its oxide, as a by-product of zinc. Dr. Jaffee stated that about a ton a year is produced in America.

Newhouse Tells Of Financial Jolt In Joining Tigers

BY FRANK KENESSON

Lakeland, Fla., (AP)—Hal Newhouse, 24-year-old, left-handed hurling ace of the World Champion Detroit Tigers whose 34 pitching victories over two seasons netted him a $45,000 salary for 1946, has nearly recovered from the worst financial jolt he ever suffered.

Nearly—but not quite. "You won't believe this, but it's true, so help me," the former Detroit sandlot star said earnestly, warming up to a story "I Never Told Before" about the first money he ever earned in organized baseball.

"Bear in mind that all this happened in 1938, which was B. W. (Before Wakefield, when Dick signed his first Detroit contract for a bonus of $52,500)." Newhouse began in recounting the sob story to end all tear-jerkers.

Egan Paid $500
"I was pitching Legion ball and had just come back from North Carolina where our Detroit team had played in the national championships."

"I had seen me pitch and I had talked to a few of them. Almost every time I looked around in those days 'wish' Egan (head scout of the Tigers) was standing by, giving me a word of encouragement or a pat on the shoulder."

"Well, as I said, we had just come back from the national tournament and I was sitting with my father on the front porch of our home in Detroit when a car pulled up in front of the house and Egan and Manager Del Baker of the Tigers walked up to the porch."

"Harold, how'd you like to become a big league pitcher?" Egan asked me, getting to the point in a hurry.

"Say, 'Wish' that'd really be something," I told him.

"Egan reached in his pocket and came up with five $100 bills and an agreement for me to sign."

"Put your name right down there and the money is yours," Egan told me.

"Dad, who was working only about three weeks at a stretch in those days, blinked and asked him: 'Isn't that a lot of money for a 17-year-old kid? Do you think he's really worth it?'"

"I think so," Egan answered, so I signed it—an agreement to play pro ball for Detroit—which was really something.

"Egan and Baker hadn't disappeared around the corner before a dazzling V-12 Lincoln as long as from here across the street rolled up in front of the house and two men got out and came in."

"I'm C. Slapnicka, vice-president of the Cleveland Indians," one of them told me, "and this is Bill Bradley, our scout."

"I've got some other business so I'll tell you now why we're here."

"We want you to pitch for Cleveland, son, and we want you pretty bad."

"See that car out there? It's yours, boy, and when you sign this contract you can have this check for $15,000."

"There I was," Newhouse finished the story slowly, "dying the worst death, a 17-year-old kid ever died—with five $100 bills and a pro baseball commitment in my pocket."

"So I pitched for the Tigers."

Laboratory Solves Problem Of Soap

Urbana-Champaign, Ill.—The problem of soap, an important material in the making of synthetic rubber, was attacked and largely solved during the war here in a rubber laboratory at the University of Illinois which functioned under the sponsorship of the U. S. Office of Rubber Reserve. A new method of processing oils in soap-making led to a uniform synthetic rubber and to the use of less costly oils in the manufacture of soap.

This is but one of many scientific achievements bearing on rubber making accomplished here and at other university laboratories, all working together under the same federal office. The laboratory here, says its head, Prof. Carl S.
Marvel, has the nation's largest university group working on improvement of synthetic rubber and is a focal point for development of experimental rubbers. The laboratory was established in December, 1942, and is still in operation.

Fifty new kinds of synthetic rubber were made in the University of Illinois laboratory during the past three years, he said.
Whether any of them will ever be adopted for tires remains to be learned, but some of them show advantages for specialized uses other than tires.

A plant to manufacture synthetic gasoline and diesel oil from natural gas is being constructed in Texas.

DEATH CLAIMS FRANK DRAKE

Lifelong Local Resident
Succumbs To Long Illness

Frank Wilson Drake, 62, lifelong Escanaba resident, died at his home, 616 South 10th street, yesterday morning at 10:15 o'clock. He had been in ill health for some time.

Mr. Drake operated a barber shop in Escanaba for a number of years before his retirement more than 10 years ago. He was born in Escanaba Feb. 9, 1884 and resided here throughout his life.

He is survived by his wife, three sons, Stanley, of Chicago; Harry, Escanaba; Frank, Chicago; and a daughter, Ruth Adele of Sault Ste. Marie. Two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Mackin, of Chicago; and Mrs. Frank Compher, Detroit, also survive.

The body was prepared for burial at the Alto funeral home but funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Northern Service Bureau Receives National Award

D. Edward Kasun, manager of The Northern Service Bureau of Escanaba, reported that his organization was recently presented with the Associated Credit Bureaus achievement award at an association meeting held in Chicago. The award is given for business and collection agency activities.

The award known as a "Leo" is a gold statuette with a name plaque attached to a wooden base, and represents the highest achievement for the Fifth District Collection Division of the Association.

The association is composed of a credit bureau division of 1350 members in the United States and Canada, and a Collection Service Division of 750 agencies in the United States and Canada. The Fifth Division is comprised of the states of Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan and Province of Ontario.

The Northern Service Bureau is functioning in Escanaba and in Delta, and Schoolcraft counties. It is closely allied with the Sault Service Bureau of Sault Ste. Marie and the Northern Service Bureau of Petoskey, Michigan. The Northern Service Bureau's purpose is to collect accounts for business firms and professional people.

Mr. Kasun, who came to Escanaba in December 1945, was raised and educated in Manistique and DePere, Wis. He was previously employed by the United States Government at Fort Brady as an accountant, as Credit Manager of the Sault Polyclinic and as Supervisor of the Sault Credit Bureau and Sault Service Bureau of Sault Ste. Marie.

Nine hundred thousand square miles of Russia were planted with mines and shells and booby-traps by the German invaders.

Mr. Schmit spent three and a half years in the army signal corps attached to the Ninth air force and was overseas for more than two years in the ETO. He served as radar technician and cryptographic technician sergeant. He returned to work for the Employer's Mutual of Wausau, Wis., and spent January and February at the home office of the company getting special training. Sgt. Schmit had worked in the Milwaukee and Chicago offices of the company before the war.

Motorist Pays Fine — Robert Ranguette, 1219 First avenue north, yesterday pleaded guilty in Justice Werner Olson's court to a reckless driving charge and was released on payment of $25 fine and costs. Escanaba police arrested Ranguette following a car accident Saturday in which Ranguette's car struck one driven by Charles Kositzke of Escanaba, Rt. 1. The accident occurred in the 600 block, Stephenson avenue. Both cars were damaged.

BATHING BEACH WORK PLANNED

Escanaba May Have To Temporarily Change
Swimming Site

The necessary dredging to obtain fill at Escanaba's Ludington Park bathing beach, site for the construction of a new beach house, may mean the temporary relocation of a public beach on the north side of Sand Point this summer, City Manager A. V. Aronson said yesterday.

Improvement of the Ludington Park beach was delayed during the war years and will be resumed this spring as soon as the city sandpucker can be put in operation, the city manager said. The dredging will deepen lagoons according to the original park plan and will provide fill to raise the level of the surrounding land.

It is expected that as soon as the desired level is attained the sand fill will be covered with clay surface to prevent wind erosion. Seeding and planting with grass and shrubs will follow.

City Manager Aronson said that a site for a temporary city beach is now being considered, and that it was expected the shore on the north shore side of Sand Point would be chosen.

The dredging is expected to take two seasons to complete. During the period of the dredging the water along the shore is likely to be discolored, and there may be hazard because of holes left by the dredge. The city manager said it may be necessary to close off the present beach area during the period of improvement work.

Plans for a new beach house have been completed, and have been approved by the Michigan Planning Commission. Should state or federal funds be made available for a public works program, Escanaba could expect financial assistance in the construction of the building.

Now He's Retired, Has Time To Spare

State College, Pa. (AP)—A 56-year-old man, now retired, wrote to the School of Agriculture at Pennsylvania State College, seeking the second in a series of lessons he had previously started via correspondence. Investigation showed he had originally enrolled in 1908.

Anna Wicklund, 74, Escanaba Resident, Dies In Dowagiac

Mrs. Anna Wicklund, 74, of 1324 North 19th street, passed away Sunday in Dowagiac, where she had been visiting.

The body will arrive in Escanaba, and be in state this afternoon at the Anderson funeral home. Funeral services will be held at the funeral home Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be in Lakeview cemetery.

Mrs. Wicklund is survived by three daughters. They are Mrs. Theresa O'Donnell and Mrs. Esther Martin of Detroit, and Mrs. Emma O'Brien of Chicago. Her husband, Erick Wicklund, died Feb. 21, 1944.

Takes Long Shot At Presidency, 1964 Candidate

Seattle—(AP)—On a plank that "eighteen years isn't too long to campaign for the most important job in the nation," Bill Belt, 22, of Hermiston, Ore., has announced his candidacy for President on the Young America party ticket in 1964.

His candidacy actually began five years ago when pranks were nominated him for President at a Boy Scout meeting. The joke grew into a serious drive and the party was formed. A convention, planned for Milwaukee in 1943, was upset by the war, most of the members going into the armed services.

Now that Bill is back from the Army he plans to return to Stanford University to resume his law studies while perfecting campaign plans.

TO REORGANIZE OVA COMMITTEE

World War II Veterans
To Be Represented
More Fully

Reorganization of the Office of Veterans Affairs in Delta county along a plan which eventually will place the office entirely under the authority of World War II veterans was discussed at a recent meeting of the OVA executive committee, it was revealed yesterday. Under the reorganization plan it is proposed to have representatives of Gladstone and each of the townships on the committee.

The present committee, headed by H. D. Brackett of Escanaba, and including John A. Lemmer, Escanaba superintendent of schools, was reported as desiring to withdraw from the committee as soon as practicable so that eventually the committee will be composed entirely of World War II veterans.

The committee will be enlarged to include 30 new members, and each member will serve on a sub-committee. The membership of the new committee will be announced soon, and a meeting of all members will be held shortly thereafter, according to Robert LeMire, counselor and secretary for the Office of Veterans Affairs.

Besides the executive committee, six other sub-committees will be organized, and each will have a chairman and vice-chairman. These sub-committees will include an educational committee, transportation committee, employment committee, housing committee, automobile committee, and public relations committee.

At the recent meeting of the committee the resignations of Gerald Cleary, secretary, and Carl Wickman, treasurer, of the executive committee, were reluctantly accepted, with expressions of appreciation for the service they have performed. Atty. LeMire, who has been serving the OVA as counselor, was elected secretary, and Cleary will temporarily continue as treasurer.

The financial report on the recent drive for funds by the Office of Veterans Affairs was made at the meeting held March 6. To date $3,988.80 has been received as donations to the office. The sum is short of the established goal, and it was announced by the executive committee that unless more funds were received the OVA will be forced to curtail its functions.

Grave Registrars Have Postwar Job

Rome (AP)—Bodies of 32,000 Americans have been buried in 24 military cemeteries in the Mediterranean theater of operations, but the Army's graves registration service still has to find and place in temporary military cemeteries more than 2,000 bodies, mostly of aviators and Office of Strategic Services men killed in the Balkans. Political conditions kept the Army from sending registration teams into Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary until the first of this year.

High Blood Pressure A Warning of Dangerous Complications

If you suffer from High Blood Pressure, and have been unable to improve your condition with old style methods—then take time out now and ask yourself "Why has not my condition improved?"

High Blood Pressure is a warning that something is wrong with your system—something, if left so, may lead to Hardening of the Arteries, Stroke, Paralysis, Heart Trouble, Kidney Disease, or other grave conditions.

Drugs and medicines that give only temporary relief will not do one bit of good toward removing the causes of your trouble. You must remove or allay the cause of your trouble.

The Ball Clinic, through its system of Health Correction, combined with the World's Famous Mineral Waters and Baths of Excelsior Springs, has developed a new method of treating High Blood Pressure. Every day remarkable results are being achieved with sufferers requiring better health.

AMAZING FREE BOOK

In response to the great many who have written them about their modern methods of helping High Blood Pressure sufferers to better health, the Ball Clinic has prepared an Amazing Free Book entitled "High Blood Pressure—The Killer."
